

Armin Scholl's Publications in English

- Weischenberg, Siegfried; Maja Malik; Armin Scholl (2012): Journalism in Germany in the 21st Century, in: David H. Weaver; Lars Willnat (eds.): The Global Journalist in the 21st Century, New York, London: Routledge: 205-219.
- Scholl, Armin (2011): How a process-oriented approach affects empirical research. Open peer commentary on the target article "From objects to processes: A proposal to rewrite Radical Constructivism", in: Constructivist Foundations 7, 1: 29-31.
- Weischenberg, Siegfried; Maja Malik; Armin Scholl (2011): Structural Shift and Functional Stability: German Journalism in the "Berlin Republic", in: David Hutchison; Hugh O'Donnell (eds.): Centres and Peripheries: Metropolitan and Non-Metropolitan Journalism in the Twenty First Century, Newcastle: Cambridge Scholars Publishing: 201-214.
- Scholl, Armin (2011): How Constructivist Philosophy Enriches Journalism Research. Review of „The Creation of Reality. A Constructivist Epistemology of Journalism and Journalism Education. Translated by Alison Rosemary Koeck and Wolfram Karl Koeck“ by Bernhard Poerksen. Imprint Academic, Exeter (UK), Charlottesville (VA), 2011, in: Constructivist Foundations 6, 2 (Commemorative Issue for Ernst von Glasersfeld): 275-277.
- Scholl, Armin (2010): Radical Constructivism in Communication Science, in: Constructivist Foundations 6, 1 (Special Issue "Can Radical Constructivism Become a Mainstream Endeavor?"): 51-57.
- Scholl, Armin (2010): Just another Label or Substantial Theoretical Integration? Review of „Interaktionistischer Konstruktivismus. Zur Systemtheorie der Sozialisation“ by Tilmann Sutter. VS Verlag für Sozialwissenschaften, Wiesbaden, 2009, in: Constructivist Foundations 5, 3: 158-160.
- Scholl, Armin (2008): Non-dualizing Philosophy and Empirical Research, in: Constructivist Foundations 3, 3: 172-180.
(<http://www.univie.ac.at/constructivism/journal/articles/3/3/172.scholl.pdf>)
- Scholl, Armin (2008): Qualitative Methodology, in: Wolfgang Donsbach (ed.): The International Encyclopedia of Communication. Volume IX, Oxford, UK and Malden, MA: Wiley-Blackwell: 4053-4059.
- Scholl, Armin (2008): Quantitative Methodology, in: Wolfgang Donsbach (ed.): The International Encyclopedia of Communication. Volume IX, Oxford, UK and Malden, MA: Wiley-Blackwell: 4067-4073.
- Görke, Alexander; Armin Scholl (2006): Niklas Luhmann's Theory of Social Systems and Journalism Research, in: Journalism Studies 7, 4: 645-656.
- Scholl, Armin; Siegfried Weischenberg (1999): Autonomy in Journalism: How It Is Related to Attitudes and Behavior of Media Professionals, in: Web Journal of Mass Communication Research 2, 4 (= <http://www.scripps.ohiou.edu/wjmcr/vol02/2-4a.HTM>). [3]
- Weischenberg, Siegfried; Martin Löffelholz; Armin Scholl (1998): Journalism in Germany, in: David Weaver (ed.): The Global Journalist. News People around the World, Creskill (NJ): Hampton Press: 229-256.
- Scholl, Armin (1996): Sampling Journalists, in: Communications. The European Journal 21, 3: 331-343.

Papers presented at international conferences

- Defining Journalism and Measuring Journalistic Change. Paper presented at the 59th Annual Conference of the International Communication Association (ICA); Panel „Stability and Change in German Journalism“, Chicago, May 21-25, 2009.
- Structure and Professional Role of German Journalism, Paper presented at the 59th Annual Conference of the International Communication Association (ICA); Panel „Stability and Change in German Journalism“, Chicago, May 21-25, 2009.
- Methods in Journalism Research: Problems, Challenges and Ways of Their Solution, Paper presented at the International Conference on „Journalism Research in an Era of Globalization“, Erfurt, July 2-4, 2004.
- Autonomy in Journalism: How It Is Related to Attitudes and Behavior of Media Professionals. Paper Presented at the Annual Convention of the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication (AEJMC), New Orleans, August 4-7, 1999.
- The Impact of Situational and Personal Factors on Respondents' Answers in Research Interviews. Paper Presented at the „International Conference on Social Science Methodology“, Trento, June 22-26, 1992.